NATION DEMANDS WAR SANCTIONS TO STOP

The Power Of The Truth

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 24.

There has been no luck since a two-headed Foreign Office appeared, and there can be none until a noisy experiment becomes a memory and a warning. From a Constitutional standpoint the thing is a preposterous monstrosity. The Siamese twins in this case do not possess even the pathetic attractions of their prototypes, for they are a freak of artifice, not of nature. No two men could be more ill-assorted in temperament as in aspect; and it may be harder still to say in the end—though the question is already the subject of surmise—which of the two should be the more commiserated. Meanwhile, it is impossible for the nation to fix normal responsibility on either, and this unprecedented confusion of functions while the ists suspends one of the plainest Constitutional guarantees of public security. It could not be more ludicrous, and it would be distinctly less perilous, to have two First Lords of the Admiralty, two Chancellors of the Exchequer, or two Lord Chancellors on the Woolsack.

CONTRAST AND A MORAL
This week the Parliament elected by the tremendous national uprising in 1931 assembled in order to die. Nothing could be more ironical than its exit. In its absence since August Ministers have plunged or slithered into a policy of universal disturbance. No man looking ahead can see a good end to it either for peace or trade. Unless the whole spirit of our proceedings is changed, we can expect nothing but extending complications and thickening difficulties. This policy is contrary to the whole historic British tradition of sober prudence and sagacity in foreign affairs. And not only that, but clean contrary to every steady and limiting principle that the two Houses have deliberately approved in the last ten years and to every precaution they have demanded.

Despite circumstances so urgently concerning every man, woman and child in the land, and their wear or ill for as long as they may live, the Parliament has been kept in abeyance for over two months. During that very period the country has been dragged at the heels of those very sections condemned by the mighty vote of autumn 1931, whose folly is even more blind and dangerous in foreign affairs than in financial. Even more surely in the former respect than in the other the incorrigible levity of their passions and hatreds, heads for breakdown, bankruptcy, and disaster. Loudest for the mad policy of sanctions and no end—for war-measures after trade-ruptures—are the shouts of Socialists and Communists throughout Europe, whose real aim through it all is to bring down to begin with one of the two most formidable enemies of their own party creeds. What is the Ethiopian Hecuba to them or they to Hecuba? And what the League except so far as by hook or crook it subverts the class-conflict?

Next to them in accompanying the ramp of sanctions with the shrillest applause and the most open war-mongering are the deluded zealots whose fanatical panderism in the name of the League and Peace has become a deadly menace to both. This then is the fantastic sequel of the national vote of four years ago which created a mighty majority for all the purposes of sobriety, stability, and confidence. These are the circumstances, astounding by comparison, in which the Parliament of 1931 summoned for a last few days to celebrate its own obsequies; to perform a funeral-march of the marionettes on the eve of its own demise; and at the same time to hear one of the most momentous statements of policy ever made.

THREE CLAIMS
Even at the last gasp are there not some earnest questions to ask? For some further weeks, no less critical and grave than now, the Government of our free democratic country will pursue the policy of sanctions without the assistance of any Parliament at all. How long is this situation to continue? Whither is this situation to lead? In this week's debate, Sir Samuel Hoare, as half a Foreign Secretary, will address a House of Commons in extremis. Cool and judicious in his own proper nature, this statesman is a master of Parliamentary exposition in his way. He is pretty certain to frame his defence with experienced ability, and with balanced attention both to the Ten Commandments and the rule of three.

The House of Commons will be assured, above all, of three things. First, that the violent middle of sanctionist policy was obligatory and inevitable; that we are absolutely pledged to join in defending any of the fifty odd members of the League against unprovoked aggression by any other member of the League; that we are bound by our word and our signature to uphold the Covenant in its literal interpretation as originally drawn; and that to flinch from the alleged sacredness of our engagements would be a shameful dereliction and even a pusillanimous perjury.

Secondly, the House of Commons will be thrice-entreated that Ministers have never had a thought of special British interests in the matter, and on pure principle would have acted in the same way had Abyssinia been a thousand miles from Egypt.

Thirdly, the Government's spokesman may contend again that the policy, however uncomfortable, has not only been obligatory but wise—that it tends, in practice, to rehabilitate the League; to strengthen "collective security" in Europe and the world; and to reinforce all the safeguards against war. On this showing nothing would remain for an expiring House but to bless with its last breath a paragon of policies combining for once in this poor world all the virtues with all the gains.

MYTH ABOUT OBLIGATION.

These are almost ideal materials for a Parliamentary case of a kind. As for the good intentions, they are unquestionably a perfect obelisk. They are of a monumental height, symmetry and polish that no ornament of a cemetery could excel. The arguments are capable of development in the most impassioned strain of high-minded appeal and the most impressive elaboration of false logic. It reminds us, unfortunately, of Tennyson's immortal jest about himself: "In execution I am not inferior to Sophocles: the worst is there's nothing in me." The case, in a word, is too good to be true.

For what are the precedents set by Ministers themselves? Why on former occasions have they denied the obligations they now assert? Why did they recognise on those occasions that a sanctionist crusade for principle was precluded by every dictate of expediency and sense? Technically, Japan's proceedings against China when both were members at Geneva was a flagrant violation of the Covenant of the League. If our word and our signature were indeed as sacrosanct as we are now told, and if the moral compulsion lay upon us to commit suicide for honour, why did we not invoke sanctions against Japan at any cost? "Because," as Palmerston said, "we are not keese." Why were not sanctions applied to bring to an end the long and ghastly Sino-Japanese war between two members of the League? Because every sane human being recognised that there was no such thing as an absolute moral compulsion in the matter; and that in practice it was as wise as necessary to refrain.

Only a full League can claim full authority. When America quitted the League the bottom dropped out of it as a peace-imposing power both indisputable and irresistible. When Japan and Germany seceded in their turn it became certain that the League could not attempt to act as a coercive agency, whether by economic war or more violent war—whether by trade-sanctions or death-sanctions—without causing immeasurably more mischiefs and miseries than it could cure and making the last state of mankind worse than the first. The original binding force of the Covenant, as this journal has maintained for years, was dissolved with the total dissolution of the original understandings and conditions when the most indispensable of the initial guarantors was withdrawn and later defections followed. All this seemed to be recognised during the last ten years and more, since the Protocol was rejected by the common sense of the country

CHAMBERS OF CULTURE

Aims Of Senate In Germany

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, Nov. 15.

The second annual meeting of the National Chambers of Culture, instituted under the National Socialist regime, took place here on Friday and was marked by the establishment of a new "national senate of culture."

Not including the administrative body of four, headed by the Vice-President of the Chamber of Culture, the Senate consists of 113 members comprising the president and council of each chamber, and other members of the chambers, and personalities who are non-members of the chambers but are distinguished in the sphere of art which the respective chamber deals, there being separate chambers for literature, music, prayers, theatre, radio, fine arts, and film.

The brilliant ceremony was attended by Herr Hitler and more prominent personages of German Political and cultural life and many representatives of the diplomatic corps. The main part of the proceeding was occupied by a speech by Herr Goebbels, who made a detailed survey of the Chamber of Culture work during its two years of existence, and stated that its inner organisation ended this day. The President of the Chamber of Culture he pointed out, was at the same time the chief of propaganda for the national socialist party, as well as being the propaganda minister, and this trinity provided absolute guarantee for frictionless co-operation between the vocational organisation party and the state. The moment had now come to call into being the great representatives for the unification of the German cultural life; the national senate of culture.

FURTHERANCE OF ART
The minister then proceeded to outline some of the fundamental questions with which the senate will have to deal. Firstly, he said that it was not possible to make the membership of the chambers of culture dependent on proof of ability, since ability must be judged by human beings who are liable to error, shortsightedness, envy and jealousy, overhasty organisation which during the past two years have often resulted in too much attention being paid to things of the moment now gives way to a clearly defined scheme in which there will be little room for compromises.

The present day Germany must express the spirit of time, more than it has done hitherto, every encouragement must be given to young artists and writers. Activities in the fields of art of the National Socialist organisations merit particular attention. In the new state, freedom of artistic creation is also guaranteed within the limits sharply defined by the boundaries however, are drawn by political considerations and not by art. "The way must be paved for a purer style for our monumental aims in a realm of culture concluded, Herr Goebbels, and this task demands clarity of vision as well as respect of words which should not be worn out by the daily use of superlatives. The words 'be natural' just as life is natural' also apply to artists of our day."

HERRIOT DEFENDS LAVAL

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)
Paris, Nov. 15.

M. Herriot addressing the deputies of the Radical Socialist party of which the minister is chairman, uttered a serious warning on Friday against any suggestion to overthrow M. Laval, and stated that he had flatly refused to be M. Laval's successor.

M. Herriot defended the Government's policy and actions, emphasising that Laval himself was not irrevocable and that the foundation laid by his Government must remain intact.

The Radical Socialist group then passed a motion that the state budget must be kept in equilibrium under all circumstances.

and the Dominions. The whole theory of sacred and universal commitments has been utterly repudiated by Parliament, and the nation; and they will never consent to it.

ECONOMIST'S OPINION ON CHINA FINANCIAL DECREE

Thorough But Four Points Overlooked

Tientsin.

The financial decree of the Ministry of Finance is thorough in many respects but there are four pitfalls which the Government, in its desire to rehabilitate the finances of the nation, has overlooked, declared Dr. Franklin L. Ho, Director of the Institute of Economics of Nankai University, in an interview with a representative of the Central News Agency to-day.

To gradually replace the banknotes issued by other private banks with the legal tenders of the Central Bank of China, the Bank of China and the Bank of Communications may be effectively applied among the commercial banks, said Dr. Ho, but there still leaves the question of the many provincial banks, which have issued excessive banknotes and subsidiary notes without adequate reserves.

Whether it is possible for the Government to redeem all these devaluated provincial banknotes and replace them whole-sale with the legal tenders is problematical, he continued.

LEGAL TENDERS PROBLEM

To this noted Chinese economist and statistician, the Ministry should set a time-limit for all the provincial banks to retire all their banknotes. If the provincial banks find it impossible for them to exchange the legal tenders with silver, as a step towards the redemption of their own banknotes, the Ministry should itself become a stockholder of the provincial banks by supplying legal tenders to these financial houses in order to tide them over the present situation.

Another defect detected by Dr. Ho in the Government's policy is the difficulty of withdrawing, at the outset, all silver from circulation in the inland market. According to the order of the Ministry, effective from Nov. 4, all payments in taxes and in public and private transactions must be made in legal tenders. Offenders will be confiscated of their silver.

The supply of legal tenders in the interior, explained Dr. Ho, is insufficient at the present. If the country people are prohibited from using silver in their daily transactions, there may be a danger of a total stoppage of trade.

As a panacea, the eminent economist suggested that the Government instruct all post offices and telegraph offices in the inland to exchange legal tenders for silver. Another remedy is to have the Government sponsor public enterprises in the hinterland in order to put more legal tenders into circulation.

THE THIRD POINT

A third point overlooked by the Ministry in its notification, stated Dr. Ho, is that the managed currency policy applies only to cash and banknotes. It has neglected the credit business. It regulates the reserves of the banks but says nothing about the credit loans.

In the present age when credit transactions are just as important as money as the medium of exchange, continued the authority, credit loans should also be put under the control of the Government. Any credit extended by the financial house should be covered with an equal amount of reserve in order to avoid any future financial crisis.

According to Dr. Ho, an enforcement of the managed currency policy requires a standard of management. This standard may either be the price index or the average need of currency for the total population. Whether which should be employed as the standard depends primarily upon the degree of economic development of the nation and the amount of statistical data at its disposal.

It is, therefore, what for the Government to organize a committee of experts to study the standard of management in order to insure the effectiveness of the managed currency policy.

PRE-ARRANGED PLAN

In the earlier part of the interview, Dr. Ho opined that the financial rehabilitation policy of the Government was underway when Mr. T. V. Soong, now Governor of the Bank of China, headed the Ministry of Finance. The abolition of tael and the increase of the Government stock in the Bank of China and the Bank of Communications last spring, said he, are steps taken preparatory to the adoption of a managed currency policy.

Speaking from the standpoint of principles, Dr. Ho agreed that the Government should have the sole control of the currency of the nation. An enforcement of a managed currency policy, he averred, merely gives the Government the legal rights to regulate the demand for and supply of currency in China.

He recalled that the managed currency system has become the latest trend of financial administration in the world. Sweden, during the European War, had adopted such a policy. England followed suit two years ago with satisfactory results while the United States enforced a similar system last year. Other progressive nations are also taking the same steps.

Dr. Ho heartily agreed with the measures taken by the Government but he was of the opinion that the policy should have been adopted two or three years ago. For if China had embarked on a managed currency then, she could have been able to prevent the recent exodus of the white metal, the tightening of the currency market, and the extreme business depression, which she is now experiencing.

One of the most important results of the Government's emergency financial measures, in the view of the leading economist, is the unification of the monetary standard of the country, the consequence of which will benefit the nation's commerce and industry.

NO INFLATION

He scoffed at the interpretation of some observers who think that the general rise of the recent price level is a symptom of inflation. As a matter of fact, he asserted, the tightening of the currency market in China has been going on during last few years. The business depression has already reached its lowest ebb. At this juncture, an adoption of the managed currency policy, with a view of inflating the currency under a restrictive and systematic manner, will unquestionably stimulate China's commerce and industry.

To prove his assertion, Dr. Ho cited the recent reports from Shanghai saying that the foreign stocks in the port city have experienced a boost while the reality business has once more become active.

Stressing the fact that a managed currency policy affects the whole economic well-being of the nation, Dr. Ho advised a careful and moderate policy on the part of the Government. He also urged the Government to exercise extreme care in the organization and the selection of the personnel to carry out the measures.—Central News Agency.

CINEMA TRADE NOTICES

"DANTE'S INFERNO"

Scenes that beggar description and sights that stagger the imagination, are the larger part of an unforgettable drama. To-day, "Dante's Inferno", which opens to-day at the King's and Alhambra Theatres, the story of a woman who desperately strives to save the man she loves from destruction.

Ten million sinners writhing in eternal torment, torture chambers, rain of fire, lakes of flame, and craters of doom make "Dante's Inferno" timely as to-day's news and eternal with its challenging truths.

Dante Alighieri's "Divine Comedy", the greatest of all literary classics, is pictured in the most astounding spectacle ever attempted in theatrical history, but it is not the principal burden of the story. It serves to express a modern theme.

The story tells of a modern transgressor, played by Spencer Tracy, who starts as a stoker on a ship and rises to a position of wealth and affluence by chicanery and trickery.

He builds a fortune around an amusement concession depicting the horrors of the "Inferno" and launches a floating palace of pleasure, a gambling ship. Behind him he leaves a trail of lies, deception and betrayal.

"EVERY NIGHT AT EIGHT"

"Every Night At Eight" new Paramount comedy, musical and romantic drama, which is delighting audiences at the Queen's Theatre is the first motion picture to present a romantic story around radio amateur hours.

"JACK'S THE BOY"

"Jack's the Boy", which is shown at the Star Theatre by special request of cinema fans, is an unusual comedy of a detective type. It scintillates with joy and excitement and provides first rate entertainment. Jack Hulbert plays the role of the son of a "big noise" in Scotland Yard, and enlists in the police force known as Constable Brown. He later is involved in a love-affair with the girl Ivy which leads him to the arrest of a notorious crook, Jules Martin. The star is supported by Cicely Courtneidge, Winifred Shotter, Francis Lister, Peter Gawthorne and Ben Field.

"STRANDED"

The most dramatic, and the greatest in heart interest of all the Warner Bros. service stories, "Stranded" next change at the Queen's Theatre with Kay Francis and George Brent in the leading roles. "Stranded" is stark drama, although there is comedy relief here and there, just as there is humour in every walk of life. It centres about the life of a worker of the Traveler's Aid, who is in the terms of humanity. She is in love with a hard boiled engineer who is building the largest bridge in the world, and who considers human beings only as cogs in an industrial machine. The clash of characters is the strongest point in the story, although the action at times is fast and as thrilling as the wildest melodrama. Kay Francis in the role of the Traveler's Aid worker gives one of her greatest screen characterizations.

SIGHT OF ONE EYE LOST

"Borrowed" Car Fine For Viscount Thurles

Viscount Thurles, aged 19, son of the Earl of Oswestry, of Brynston Square, London, W., was fined £2 10s. at Hendon Police Court, for taking and driving away a car without permission or lawful authority, and £2 10s. for using a car without an insurance policy in force.

He was ordered to pay 25s. costs and his licence was suspended for 12 months.

Mr. Knight (prosecuting) said that Viscount Thurles was employed as a salesman at a garage in Brookmans, W., where a car owned by Mrs. Roberts, of Crawford Street, was taken for repairs in July. When the car was ready for delivery, Viscount Thurles told his employer that he had permission to use it. He took it out, and at 2 a.m. the next day he was severely injured in a collision with a motor lorry at Hendon. A young woman passenger was also injured.

Mrs. Roberts told the Court that she did not give Viscount Thurles permission to use the car except to take it to the garage.

Viscount Thurles said that he had lost the sight of his right eye in the accident and his girl passenger was still in hospital. Mrs. Roberts agreed to his taking the car for an extensive test after the repairs had been done.

"Knowing I was going to St. Albans," he said, "I thought it an excellent opportunity for a fair trial, and I took the car in preference to asking for another one at the garage."

suffered damages in consequence of his death.

"In the result, I find for the plaintiff, with costs, for the sum of £4,000—£3,500 for herself, and for the daughter the sum of £500."

Judgment was entered accordingly.

A stay of execution for fourteen days was granted pending consideration of the question of an appeal.

REFORMS IN CHINA

Chiang Kai Shek's Government

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 24.

Mr. J. O. P. Bland, a former resident of Shanghai, writing to the "London Times" on reforms in China touched upon many interesting points which are of interest to our readers. We reproduce his letter in full.

Sir,—The ever-increasing importance of the subject of good government in China is my excuse for asking, of your courtesy, to be permitted to refer again to Mr. Warburton Davidson's letter of "good news from Szechuen," published in The Times of September 24, and to the request for more specific information contained in my letter, published in your columns on the 27th.

In his reply to this request, and in a further communication addressed to you by the Archdeacon of Western Szechuen (both published in The Times of October 4), the "good news" is confirmed in general terms, but neither of these letters supplies anything in the nature of definite information concerning the men and methods employed, during the past few months, in carrying out the vast programme of reorganization and reform, to which both writers refer.

From the Archdeacon's letter it would appear that the Generalissimo's method of closing opium dens, tax offices, &c., as applied in Szechuen, consists in turning out "corrupt officials" and replacing them with his own men—an expedient which, unless the character of the Chinese people has recently undergone a miraculous change, is not calculated to produce either stability or good will in the regions thus dealt with. For the rest, it would seem that confidence in the permanent efficacy of General Chiang's methods of reconstruction and reform is mainly based on the fact (which none disputes) that he is a great leader, and furthermore that he and his talented wife are both Christians.

With all due respect, may I remind the Archdeacon and Mr. Davidson that a similarly optimistic outlook has often been based in the past on the professed Christianity of other prominent leaders, most notably in the case of the late Sun Yat-sen and that of Feng Yu-shiang. The Generalissimo's recent demonstrations of good will towards the missionaries of Szechuen may be perfectly sincere, but the fact remains that 10 years ago, at a time when he professed to have found his spiritual home in Moscow, he was at the head of a Nationalist party, which sanctioned an anti-Christian movement of great violence.

Finally, a word on the vitally important matter of opium. The Archdeacon observes that, at the time of his visit to Szechuen last spring, all the opium dens of the district of Chungking had been closed as the result of Chiang's vigorous measures of suppression. On the other hand, the Chinese Recorder for July contains the following note on the subject over the reliable signature of Mr. Sherwood Eddy:—

"When I went into Shansi and Szechuen I found that it was, instead of Japanese drugs, Chinese opium that was poisoning the people. In Shansi Marshal Yen Hsi-shan (once prominent in the British Press as the model governor) had a plan of opium suppression on paper, would deliver the province from addiction in a few years, but which, in practice, increased the consumption of opium for provincial benefit. In the amount of opium grown, sold, and consumed, Szechuen led all China in the provinces I visited. I went out on the streets of Chengtu

PRODUCTION OF DANTE'S INFERNO

A Difficult Job

Untold difficulties were encountered by the technical staff of Fox Films whilst engaged upon the production of the Inferno scenes. No effort was spared to make everything as realistic as possible and the finished picture as shown at the Alhambra and the King's theatres yesterday, shows the tremendous amount of work which must have been put in by everyone in order to make, a very difficult portrayal, as real as possible.

Apart from the Inferno sequences, a modern story is enacted by a cast headed by Spencer Tracy, H. B. Walthall, Claire Trevor and Alan Pinchot.—N.M.

BUTTERFLY WU

Marriage Will Not Interfere With Film Career

Nanking, Nov. 12. Miss Butterfly Wu, popularly regarded as the "queen" of Chinese moviedom, is of the same opinion as most of the Hollywood stars that marriage does not conflict with a movie career.

In an interview with a representative of the Central News Agency yesterday, Miss Wu stated that she would continue with her screen work after her marriage which will take place in Shanghai on November 23.

Miss Wu enlarged upon the subject with the statement that not a few successful screen actresses in foreign countries are the mothers of several children. The celebrated Chinese actress

VARIETY ACT AT H. K. HOTEL

Cowan And Bailey
Back Again To Delight

Big things are in store for the clientele of the Hong Kong Hotel when it opens its official season of entertainment on December 7. They have booked a very versatile pair of entertainers in the persons of Cowan and Bailey whose appearances here need no introduction.

This pair of mirth provoking players are no strangers to us here as many will remember their previous visit here last year in the same capacity when their entertainment, of a type exceedingly rare in this part of the world, fairly set the local audiences to hilarious mirth.

Lynn Cowan and Bill Bailey are also musicians of no mean repute. Their singing and playing on the guitar and piano gained instant recognition wherever they have appeared. Their inimitable antics which are all their own will certainly prove a big attraction here. Their popularity is assured because though they work with enthusiasm their infectious personality coupled with their ability to put the acts over will be their chief assets.

With them are Ted and Evelyn, rhythm and tap dancers straight from the Hollywood Studios and Estelle Davis, Announcer.

Headliners wherever they went, appearances of Cowan and Bailey will be eagerly looked forward to by the patrons of the Hong Kong Hotel.

CASH, NO CHITS, IN JAPANESE CAFES

Proprietors Make Important Decision

Shanghai, Nov. 10. Prospective patrons of Japanese cafes in Shanghai will have to carry cash unless they are among the few elect listed as "regulars," according to a resolution adopted on Friday by the Japanese tavern owners.

Also elected at the meeting was a committee of five who will draw up a petition to the S.M.C. asking for a reduction or a complete remission for a certain period of their licence fees. Taxes, the conference said, were their largest single item of expenses.

Other decisions included the fixing of the price of a bottle of sake, Japanese rice wine, at 50 cents for the imported product, and 30 cents for the local brew, and the collection of telephone charges from patrons.

WHERE THE MAN TAKES THE UPPER HAND

A wife said at Tottenham police court, that she went for a holiday and wrote home to her husband to tell him how she was getting on. The husband wrote her in reply: "And this is what he wrote: 'Worthless Wife—Your disgrace!'"

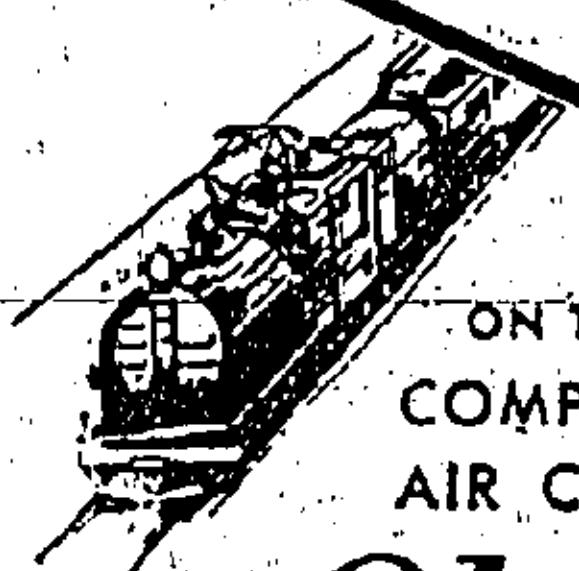

"SPY MANIA" IN JAPAN

Two young foreigners, an Englishman and a Russian, employed by a Kobe firm, were taken to a police box and questioned by an Osaka plain-clothes policeman last week, reports the "Japan Chronicle." They were released after a somewhat lengthy examination, and allowed to go home. The young men had been instructed to obtain samples of sulphur from an Osaka agent, and were on their way back when they were stopped by a detective who at first refused to show his identity card. Eventually the two foreigners were taken to a police-box, where they consented to answer questions. The police refused to take any notice of their business cards, but put many questions as to the business which had taken them to Osaka. A book one of them carried attracted particular attention. It was "The Invisible Adam," a companion book to the famous "Salome," and a cursory examination by the police apparently suggested Communist thoughts.

ENGLAND LOSE
TO PORTUGALIn International
Charity Cup Contest

As was expected, the match between England and Portugal in the first round of the Sunday Herald Cup proved to be a very clean and exciting encounter. The Portuguese team gave a splendid display of team work and gained a well-earned victory by 4 goals to 1.

Portugal fielded the same team as published previously, but two changes were made in the English side. Stevens and Bickford played in place of Ridley and Baldry.

Two minutes after the start Marques saved a hard shot from Stevens and immediately afterwards England forced a corner, but it was not fruitful.

A. V. Gosano and Delgado were in excellent form and gave Bickford and Stevens little chance. Fowler attempted to raid on the right wing but he was too slow and was often robbed of the ball.

B. Gosano was at his best and his distribution was pretty to watch. On receiving a pass from Beltrao, Gosano sent Alves away on the right wing who returned the ball to him and he transferred to Alves who banged in a hard shot to beat Durham for the first time.

Three minutes later Alves secured the second goal. The Portuguese were playing with excellent understanding, and had the English defence tied up in knots. Sandford was the only man in England's forward line that was of any use.

Bickford was playing well but he was simply starved. Higgins and Stevens failed completely to combine with each other, with the result that they could do nothing against Portugal's strong defence. Beltrao, at centre half played a great game, his coolness and interception was a delight to watch. Time and again he broke up dangerous raids, and fed his forward line well.

ENGLAND'S WEAK FORWARDS

Sandford had hard luck when he took a swift drive at goal, but his shot just tipped the cross-bar. The Portuguese continued to combine well. Bertie Gosano's feeding of his wing men left nothing to be desired. This undoubtedly put the English defence completely off, and Robertson had to go all out to keep Alves away. Lawton played a steady game but he had too much to do with a fast moving set of forwards.

Portugal went further ahead when they were awarded a free-kick from which Delgado converted to score the third goal. They pressed hard, but England got going and Fowler on the right wing made a run in and missed a certain goal.

A few minutes before half time, Beltrao took a long shot, and placed the ball nicely into the corner of the net.

With a 4 nil lead the Portuguese took things easy in the second half. Early on Stevens missed a sitter. Then Portugal went on to press again. A. V. Gosano could do nothing wrong and his clearing was splendid. Costa who partnered him was also excellent and never allowed Fowler to get too close.

Midway through the second half, Bickford gathered a pass from Stevens and went in to score England's only goal. A few minutes later Fowler missed a glorious opportunity when he was in front of goal, as he missed the ball completely.

Up till the final whistle Portugal pressed and made circles round the English team who were outplayed in all departments.

RACING SURPRISES GALORE

FESTIVAL EVE PAYS HIGHEST DIVIDEND

King's Jubilee Wins St. Leger Event

Surprises were the order of the day at the twelfth Extra Race Meeting of the Hong Kong Jockey Club held on Saturday. Gus da Roza brought off the 'hat trick' when on three successive mounts he returned three firsts and paid $68 for a win on King's Jubilee in the Hong Kong St. Leger.

Racing was very close and keen. The highest dividend was paid by Festival Eve in the Tai Po Handicap when Mr. S. L. Yeun in piloting the pony home first paid its 29 backers with $198.30 a piece. There was considerable difficulty in getting the ponies off in this race. The wires at the gate were torn away in the first false start.

Conditions for racing were excellent. Cold Morning in the Fremantle St. Leger with Mr. Frost up created a new record for the 1 1/2 miles course by returning the splendid time of 3.17.2, beating the previous record of Able Amazon by 3 4/5 secs.

Dividends on the whole were high and attendance was by far the biggest for the last few meetings.

Lady Southern had the satisfaction of leading in her pony Halcyon which came in second in the Hotham Handicap with Mr. Proulx up. Backers of the Daily Double were rewarded with $332.30 each.

The Champion jockey, Mr. Leo Frost was placed on all seven mounts and incidentally was the most successful jockey of the day also. He returned four firsts, two seconds and a third while Mr. Gus da Roza who obtained the 'hat trick' and was placed second in another race was the next best.

"GUS" ROZA'S HAT TRICK

HOHAM HANDICAP—"B" CLASS

The earlier overcast vanished when the first saddling bell rang. Attendance was moderate while the track was in excellent condition and looked as if it suited fast going. Four starters entered for the "B" Class of the Hotham Handicap. Snowy River took to the rails with Alacrity, High Finance and Halcyon following in the wake. At the Football Stand Halcyon raced past all to take the lead followed by Snowy River and Alacrity. Halcyon maintained its lead till the last 220 yards when Snowy River challenged strongly. Alacrity coming up by now. Snowy River caught up with Halcyon at about the last 100 yards and Alacrity forged ahead eventually to be beaten by Halcyon after ridden by Mr. Proulx by a length.

HONG KONG ST. LEGER

St. Leger was a race of surprise and disappointment. The 888 backers on Herod were bitterly disappointed when after being left at the rear from the start came in only for third place.

Harvest View led most of the way with Trowbridge, Rose Queen, High Honour, alternately changing places. It was a glorious race and wonderful finish at the last quarter when Pontiac Bay and King's Jubilee forged ahead and were struggling neck to neck. It was anybody's race until Mr. Roza cleverly piloted King's Jubilee past Pontiac Bay, eventually winning by a length. It was a great ending to a grand race. The favourite Herod romped home third five lengths behind. 100 backers of King's Jubilee were rewarded with $68 apiece.

CASTLE PEAK HANDICAP—"A" CLASS
Mr. da Roza once again delighted his backers by piloting King's Jubilee to a win. It was a very well judged race from start to finish. King's Jubilee led most of the way with the winner trailing behind. Soldier of Britain came up to the third position after the half mile post. On the stretch King's Jubilee got past all with Mr. Dietz strongly challenging on Soldier of Britain. Mr. da Roza had the race well in hand and won by half a length. King's Jubilee, and Cossack's Beauty tied for third place.

SUB-GRIFFINS ST. LEGER

Mr. Roza surprised punters by bringing in his third successive win of the day. On Wadebridge he led from the start to the finish and was never seriously challenged. He won with five lengths to spare. Propitious Time shot up to second place in first time round and then faded out of the picture. Seventeenth of September held second place most of the time and in the end remained in that position with Emergency Call collecting the third prize. Mr. da Roza received a big clap as Mr. Pearce led in the horse.

SHUM CHUN HANDICAP—"C" CLASS

The first leg of the "Daily Double" attracted eight starters. Monoplane shot out to the front with Night View and Mistake Bay in the rear. The positions were practically maintained when rounding the bend. High Speed took the lead but was soon challenged by Mistake Bay. However Bistre also came in for a share of the race strongly challenging the first two ponies. Mistake Bay however won by half a length, a neck separated High Speed from Bistre.

FREMANTLE ST. LEGER

The third of the St. Leger saw Derby Day getting away at a very fast gallop. Southern Cross second and Cold Morning third. They held to the same order as they did the first round the course. At half mile post Shooting Star shot right up to take the lead. Cold Morning and Streamline in the rear. On the stretch Cold Morning passed Shooting Star with Streamline trailing third place. The pace set up by Derby Day made going very fast and Cold Morning returned 3.17.2 to beat the previous record set up by Able Amazon of 3.21.1.

TAI PO HANDICAP

Great difficulty was experienced in getting the 17 starters off in the Novice Race. A false start was made with the result that the wires were torn off and Mr. C. F. Chin on Limelight was dislodged from his saddle. Several other jockeys had close escapes. The second start was made without the gate. Popular Star led until well close to the last quarter when Limelight came up. Past the last quarter the ponies were bunched together. Festival Eve came in first followed by Flybynight and Copper Idol.

SHUM CHUN HANDICAP—"C" CLASS

The last race attracted 18 starters. A bad start was made. Wayward Stag led with Pride of Taingtao coming up strongly with What A Chance after. It was a quick race for when on the stretch Pride of Taingtao took the lead and kept it till the end. Zero came up from behind to take second place with What A Chance third.

NORTH CHINA FEARS

Flight From Chapei Checked

Shanghai, Nov. 17. The exodus from Chapei, which has continued unabated, has now died down considerably as the result of the enforcement of an order by the Chinese authorities prohibiting removal from Chapei. Foreign householders are also affected by the order. The "Shanghai Times" learns that one foreign family in the Chapei district desiring to move was requested to obtain a permit from the consular authorities first. Reuter.

TROOPS CONCENTRATION

Peiping, Nov. 16. Japanese troops continue to gather at Shanhaikuan. It is confirmed that seven troop trains arrived at Shanhaikuan and some light artillery, with 28 motor trucks, including some with caterpillar wheels. It is also confirmed that engineer units of the Kwantung Army are standing by at Mukden, ready to move to Shanhaikuan if ordered. Reuter.

NO COMMENT

Nanking, Nov. 16. While official Chinese circles are closely following the latest developments in Shanghai and North China, at present they refrain from comment on the Sino-Japanese situation except to emphasize that up to now no Japanese demands have been presented in connection with the recent incidents in Shanghai.

They point out that Japanese authorities merely request Chinese officials to do their utmost to prevent a repetition of anti-Japanese incidents. Reuter.

MOSCOW ART EXHIBITS

Moscow, Nov. 17. The Hermitage, Leningrad Museum picture gallery, has despatched a number of Chinese art treasures to London for inclusion in the exhibition of "Chinese art at Burlington House." The articles include a picture on silk tapestries and examples of gold filigree work. Reuter.

ITALY'S IDLE BOASTS

During the last few days the newspapers of the world have been flooded with news from Italy regarding her financial position and her resources in war. But in spite of the efforts of her propagandists, it is clear that her position in these respects is extremely vulnerable.

We can call to mind that in order to meet a special war budget of £41,000,000 she has found it necessary to raise a loan at the extraordinary high terms of 5 per cent, tax free, and by the Bolzano decrees of August 28, company dividends have been limited, so that surpluses may be invested in State funds. Dividends have also been taxed and foreign credits and securities forcibly converted.

There were also the attempts to induce foreign importers to pay cash, while exporters are persuaded to accept credits. Before the attack on Abyssinia began there was considerable spurt in industrial output, but it was at a stiff price and culminated in wholesale prices rising from 85.2 in January to, according to the latest statistics available, 103.4 on September 18. Since then there has been a substantial rise in the price of many ordinary household goods.

If Italy's boasts are not entirely groundless, then one may ask what is the cause of the rise in wholesale and retail prices? We think we are correct in saying that the rise is due partly to the heavy demand for war supplies, and a shortage of food. But there is also strong reason to suspect the beginnings of inflation. In support of this statement, we have only to mention the fact that on July 22, the obligation of the Bank of Italy to hold a 40 per cent. cover in gold for its notes in circulation was abrogated, and the present cover has fallen to below 30 per cent.

Turn now to the economic structure of Italy. She claims that sanctions would not affect her to any material extent. We disagree, and we wonder how long could she do without imported foodstuffs and raw materials upon which Italy has always relied. It is impossible to estimate the stores she at present possesses, but it is most unlikely that she has enough to last her more than a few months. We agree that in the long run it might be possible to find substitutes for some of the materials hitherto imported, but that will not entirely free her from her difficulties, because due regard must be given to the fact that in addition to economic sanctions, the League has also placed an embargo on Italian exports.

If this weapon is steadily and faithfully wielded by all member States of the League, Italy's financial resources would be much more speedily exhausted, perhaps in six months.

There is a fear that Japanese will start trouble in Canton. There are strange-looking Asiatic foreigners seen in Shanghai. It is reported that some foreigners are engaged in smuggling silver coins away from Canton and that a gunboat was used to carry away the silver. This story, however, is too sensational to be true. Anxiety here is increased by Peiping dispatches stating that thousands of Japanese troops are ready to enter South of the Great Wall.

If Gossip We Must

(By "CHANCE")

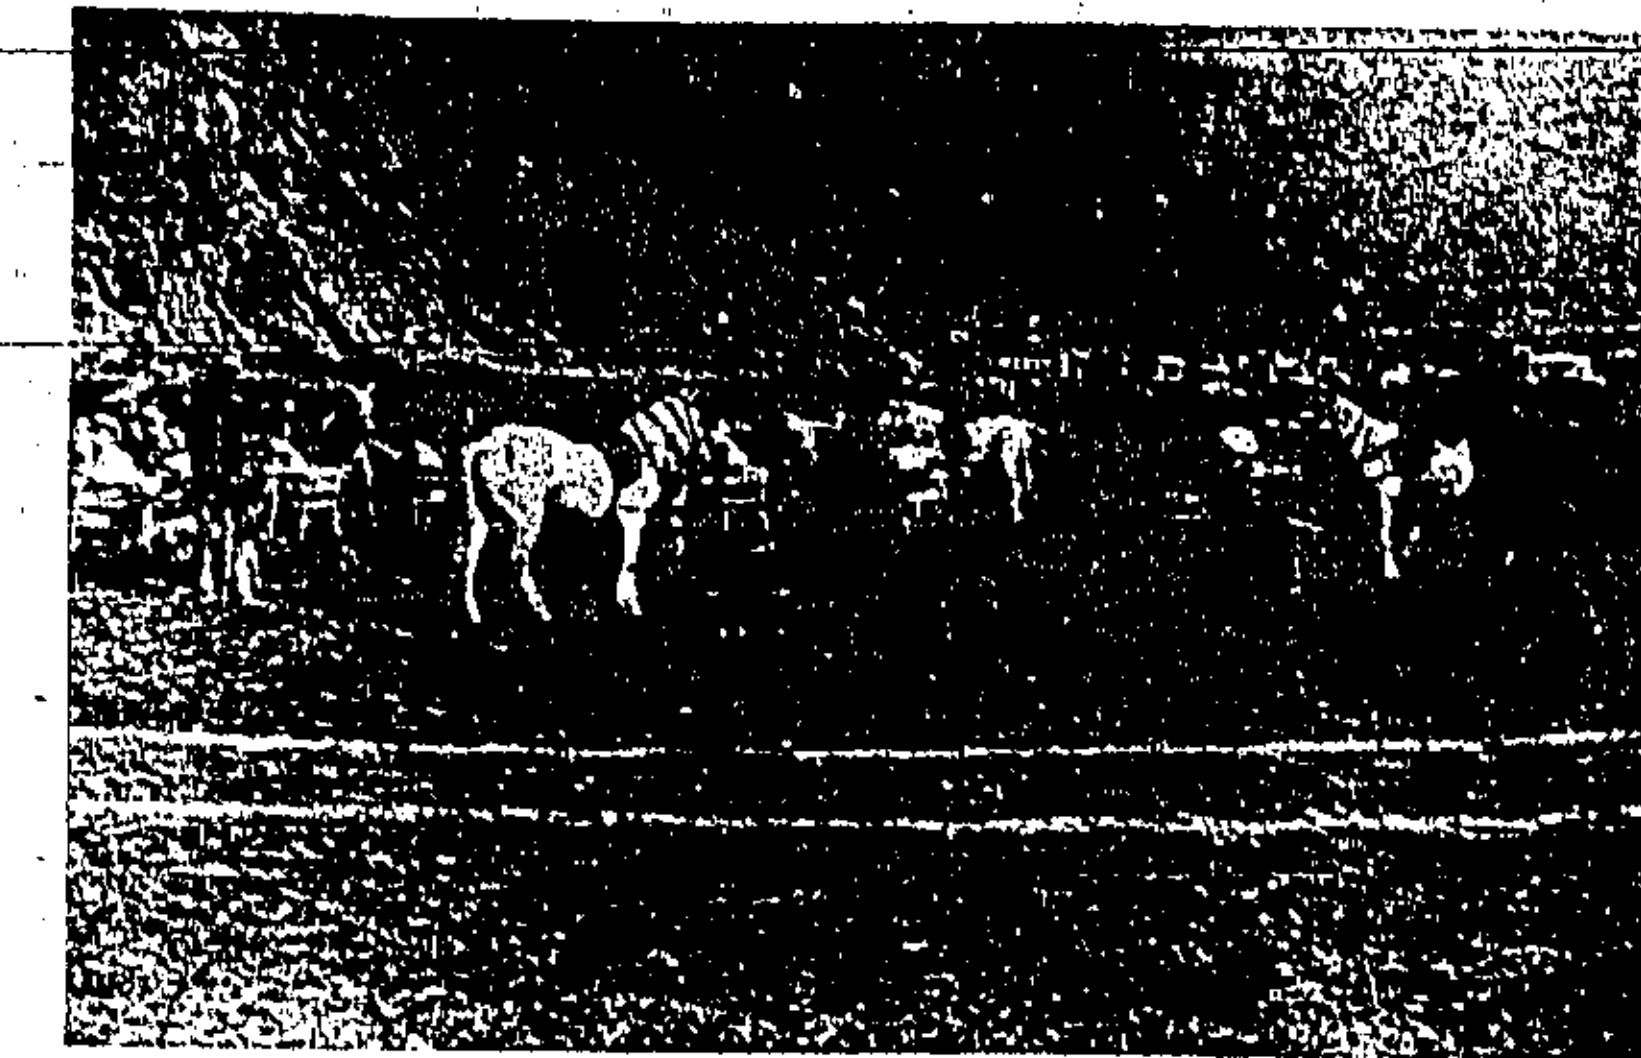

On Monday morning a large and distinguished crowd gathered on the verandahs of the Hong Kong Club for the Armistice Ceremony. Lady Shenton I noticed very smart in brown, Mrs. Keary very smart too in a tailored suit. Mrs. Beck was there looking as delightful as ever in grey with a short red coat. Heather and Barbara Hance were together in trim grey tailored suits. Heather and Betty Gerrard were there too, both beautifully groomed as always. Mrs. Coltart I saw with Mrs. St. Claire Ford, and Mrs. Walker came with her husband. Mrs. Salter was extremely smart in navy and white, which seems to be a very popular colour just now. Mrs. Rees favoured navy and pink. Mrs. Gordon Duff was in a smart linen suit, and Mrs. Bell I caught sight of as she was leaving with her husband and Captain Armstrong.

COCKTAIL PARTIES GALORE.

Cocktail parties have been very much in evidence this week, and on Thursday evening Commander and Mrs. Clutterbuck gave an excellent one at their flat where a large and cheery crowd collected to enjoy their hospitality. The hostess was very charming in an original green and white check cocktail dress, with an attractive net top and, long net sleeves; and a large bunch of red velvet roses on her shoulder. Mrs. Hinton and Mrs. Marshall were both there, and we were sorry on Saturday to see them sail for England. Mrs. Kendall I thought looked extremely nice in green and white, and Mrs. Garwood was in a cocktail ensemble, a black satin skirt with a turquoise blue and pink spotted blouse which suited her so well. It was very nice to see Miss Ralph and Miss Trimble down from the hospital, and Major and Mrs. Calfin over from Stonecutters. I was glad to see Paymaster Commander Brightman looking so well and making one of his very rare appearances since his wife went home last spring, he told me how much he was enjoying the party, so perhaps he will be tempted to go to mors now. Sheila Dewnap was there with her fiancé, also the newly engaged Honor Hancock with Captain Cragg. Mrs. Bishop I saw with a lovely double fox fur and such a smart little black hat tilted over her head. Mrs. Moore favoured black too and looked very smart, so did Mrs. Rees. I saw Tiny Munro and Nigel Metcalfe without any trouble, and Lt. Commander Brookes was there too. Mrs. Groome was in a beige ensemble, and Mrs. Macdonald in a black and very gaily coloured tunic. Altogether it was a most enjoyable and successful party. Later that night Commander and Mrs. Clutterbuck were to be seen dancing at the "Grips" and several others from their party also.

AT THE RACES.

On Saturday the 12th. Extra Race Meeting was held at Happy Valley, and was attended by a very large and enthusiastic crowd. Mrs. Frost who was dressed in brown looked very cheerful and I think must have had a successful day. Sir Thomas and Lady Southorn were there, also Major General and Mrs. Thackeray. The popular Mrs. Croucher was there; so attractive in pale pink and added a gay touch of colour to the gathering. Mrs. Alexander was there with her husband, and looked delightful in red and white, and later in the afternoon they went over to watch the rugby, so too did Mrs. Coltart and later Lt. Commander Brookes. Pretty Mrs. Wilson I saw talking to Lt. Commander Alexander and was shortly joined by Col. Wilson. Captain Armstrong and Mr. Richardson arrived later in the afternoon and I gathered have had a lucky day. On Tuesday they will leave for England so we hope soon to have our Air Mail established. Mrs. Bishop I saw with her husband and Captain Oram, and Betty and Beryl were together. Heather Gerrard and Valerie Morris I also noticed in navy and light blue respectively. Captain Coltart was there but not wearing his fashionable boater; instead a dark green hat. Mrs. Beck was very attractive in navy and red, and Mrs. Howden was in navy and pink and looked very nice. Honor Hancock was there with her fiancé. Mrs. Moss was striking in brown and orange and looked so attractive.

ON BOARD THE PARTHIAN

After the races some of us were lucky enough to go on board the Parthian where a most amusing and enjoyable cocktail party was given by Lt. Commander Brookes and his four officers. A large crowd was there, and all the hosts were excellent. We were glad to see Lt. Chapman back from the hospital, as the party wouldn't have been quite complete without him and the excellent cocktails he mixes. Mrs. Grey was there with her husband and Madam de Precourt was smart in black. Miss Dunnett and Joyce Harris Walker arrived together, and I feel sure were bound for the "Grips" when they left. Lt. and Mrs. Knox were there, the latter very sweet in figured gorgette. Commander Oram and Lt. Pack Beresford were there, also Lt. Cochran and Lt. Howden, so the "Bribe" was very well represented. Commander and Mrs. Salter I saw, she looking very smart in brown and orange. Mrs. Wise was there, she had come on from the races, also Mrs. Howden and Heather Gerrard. It is impossible for me to tell you any more names otherwise I could go on for ever, but it was a thoroughly good party, and we hope our hosts enjoyed it as much as we did.

REPORTS LINKING JAPANESE

(From Our Special Correspondent)
Canton, Nov. 17.

A secretary of Sun Yat-sen University to-day denied that Japanese bluejackets had entered the compound of the old site at Man Ming Road and created trouble. This story was circulated by several Hong Kong Chinese newspapers.

According to these reports Japanese sailors looted about the campus and rode on the bicycles of students without their permission. The students, however, made no protests, and the Japanese eventually went away. This story is denied by the university authorities.

There is a fear that Japanese will start trouble in Canton. There are strange-looking Asiatic foreigners seen in Shanghai. It is reported that some foreigners are engaged in smuggling silver coins

LOCAL AND GENERAL

There were two cases of enteric fever reported to the Health Authorities during the 24 hours ended on Friday last.

At Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday, Ng Lo, employed as a bar boy in the Kowloon-Canton Railway, was charged with having in his possession 45 taels of raw opium at the Railway Station on Friday evening. He pleaded guilty and was fined $1,000, in default five months' hard labour. The drug was found tied round his legs.

away from Canton and that a gunboat was used to carry away the silver. This story, however, is too sensational to be true. Anxiety here is increased by Peiping dispatches stating that thousands of Japanese troops are ready to enter South of the Great Wall.

ARRESTS IN N. CHINA PROTESTED AGAINST

Nanking, Nov. 11. A strong protest against the recent unlawful arrest by Japanese gendarmes of Messrs. Wen Kwang-yao, a committee-member of the Tientsin Chamber of Commerce, Wang, Yi-fan, and other members of the Chinese Press Censorship Bureau at Tientsin, and Li Ming, a Sectional Chief in the Social Affairs Bureau of the Tientsin Municipal Government, has been lodged by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs with Mr. A. Ariyoshi, Japanese Ambassador to China, it is learned to-day.

The note states that such arrests of Chinese officials and citizens in Chinese territory are grave violations of China's sovereignty as well as infringements of international law and demands that steps be immediately taken to stop any possible recurrence of similar incidents in the future. Kuo Min.

Upsets were plentiful on Saturday at the Twelfth Extra Race Meeting of the Hong Kong Jockey Club. Mr. "Gus" da Rosa performed the "hat trick" when in his first three mounts he delighted his supporters with three firsts. FASCIST GRAND COUNCIL DENOUNCES SANCTIONS

Ready To Face Any Sacrifice
GENEVA CONFIDENT OF
EARLY EFFECTS

Several Shafts In The League Quiver

Rome, November 17.
The Fascist Grand Council under the presidency of Signor Mussolini was attended by twenty four members including Air Marshal Balbo, Marchese Marconi and Signor Grandi. It concluded shortly after midnight and will be resumed on Monday evening.

A communique says that the Council passed with acclamation a motion on the eve of the application of the so-called sanctions against Italy. It considers that November 18 is a date of ignominy and inequity in the history of the world and denounces sanctions, which were never previously applied, as a proposal designed to suffocate the Italian people economically and prevent them realising their ideal.

The motion acclaims that in 11 Duce they have a man who realised the supreme right of the nation to assure to itself in Africa the conditions and means indispensable for life in the future and affirms that all Italians are ready to face any sacrifice in order to reach the necessary goal.—Reuter.

Geneva, Nov. 16.

No doubt is felt here as to the efficacy of League sanctions relating to imports and exports which come into force against Italy next Monday. It is believed that it will be a question of weeks rather than months before Italy feels the paralysing effects.

There is little likelihood at the moment of further economic sanctions being considered although there are still several shafts in the League quiver. One of the most effective hinted at would be prohibition of access to Italian ships to ports of the countries imposing sanctions, but general feeling in favour of observing the effects of sanctions has already been decided upon.—Reuter.

RIOTING IN EGYPT

Student Attacks
Resumed

Cairo, Nov. 17.

Fresh student troubles in various quarters this morning were quickly smothered by the police. Some of the worst cases occurred in the famous Rudez quarters where students wrecked class rooms and threw desks chairs and inkpots at the police. Quiet was restored by the police after they had fired in the air as a warning.

There had also been police firing at Zagazig, a hundred miles from Cairo, where students demonstrated. A communique from that place says that the students attacked the police with sharp stones picked up from the railway lines. Six police were injured and eventually they fired at the legs of the demonstrators, injuring two of them.

Two students wounded in the Independence Day rioting on November 14 have died. Egyptian troops have been despatched to Tanta, Zagazig and other centres of disturbances.

A mass meeting of the legal fraternity has called on all lawyers as the outcome of the strike on Thursday.—Reuter.

Country's Resounding Vote
Of Confidence

London, November 16.

Not since the Reform Bill of 1831 has any party received such a resounding vote of confidence. The high average of 71 polled. The apparent apathy and smallness of the meetings is attributed partly to the bad weather and mostly to the nightly broadcasts, enabling 6,000,000 voters to make up their minds calmly in their homes, and undisturbed by heckling interruptions.

The Labourites do not disguise their disappointment, especially at being unable to gain the lost ground in Wales, Scotland and the industrial North, though Durham's 11 seats solid for Labour are a notable exception.

Mr. W. Nunn's failure at Whitehaven is attributed to the closing down of a mine, throwing 2,000 miners out of work on the eve of the election. The Conservatives are frankly surprised.

The truth appears to be that Britain's economic improvement was contrasted with the gloomy conditions of 1931. That it is difficult to explain away Mr. Baldwin's personality is also a strong point, while nobody knew who would be the Socialist Premier.

Eighty-four candidates forfeited their deposits, of whom 39 were Liberals, and sympathy is expressed for this circumstance. Mr. Baldwin's loyalty to Mr. Ramsay MacDonald creates the expectation of the latter's early return, but an extensive Cabinet reshuffle is inevitable. Mr. Winston Churchill is generally tipped to succeed Sir Bolton Eyles-Monell as First Lord of the Admiralty, and Mr. Anthony Eden is backed after Mr. Lord Halifax, or the Demingions Office, Mr. J. H. Thomas.

GOVERNMENT GAINS

London, Nov. 18.

With only 26 election results outstanding, the Government parties have mustered 440 seats to the Opposition's 175.

The Government comprises 373 Conservatives, 30 Liberal Nationalists, eight National Labourites, two Nationalists, and one Independent. The Opposition consists of 87 Labourites, four Independent Liberals, 15 Samuel-Liberal's and one Communist.

The Conservatives captured eight seats and lost 79, the Liberal Nationalists gained two and lost seven, the National Labourites won one and lost seven and the Nationalists secured one seat and lost two. Only seven out of 65 women candidates were returned of which six were Conservatives and one Labour.

THE OPPOSITION

The Opposition gains and losses were: Labour gained 98 and lost four. Independent Labour gained one and lost none, the Liberals secured three and lost 14 and the Communists gained one and lost none. The sole Communist victory was secured at West Fife, Scotland.

At 5 p.m. yesterday, 21,000,000 votes had been counted, giving the Government a surplus of 1,400,000.

SPEAKER RETURNED

The Speaker of the House, Captain Fitzroy, who had refrained from participating in the electioneering campaign, despite Labour's break with the recent practice of not contesting the Speaker's seat, was returned at Daresbury with a majority of 8,167.

The narrowest result yet recorded was at Kelvingrove, where the issue is still in doubt whether Mr. Walter Elliott, the Minister for Agriculture, has been returned, with a majority of two against the Labour candidate, and a recount is proceeding. Two hundred ballot papers from one box were declared spoiled here because the official stamp was impressed on the counterfoil instead of on the papers themselves.

LABOUR SUCCESS

One of the Labour Party's chief successes was recorded at Durham County, where they captured the whole eleven divisions as compared with nine losses in 1931. Major Atlee, Labour leader, in a statement to Reuters' correspondent last night, said that in his opinion the result of the election, considered merely in terms of the number of seats won, was disappointing.—Reuter.

LATER POSITION

London, Nov. 18.

The state of the parties at 9.15 p.m. yesterday, with 11 results outstanding for 18 seats, was as follows:—

For the Government: 421—(379 Conservatives, 31 Liberal Nationalists, 8 National Labourites, 2 National Independent).

For the Opposition: 178—(153 Labourites, 4 I.L.P.s, 16 Liberals, 4 Independent Liberals, 1 Communist).

Rome, Nov. 17.

Great surprise not unmixed with uneasiness, is felt here at the totally unexpected recall of General de Bono, and the appointment of Marshal Badoglio in his stead as Commander-in-Chief of the Italian forces in the East African campaign, the significance of which is being exhaustively discussed by all sections of the Italian press.

No misgivings are felt at the effect on the East African campaign itself, since Marshal Badoglio has the complete confidence of the King and army, and is regarded as undeniably the first military authority in Italy. But General de Bono has always been regarded as the idol of the Black-shirt divisions, and is held in high esteem because he is one of the "Great Four" who carried out the march on Rome whereby the Fascists seized power.

NOT CONVINCING

The official reason for the change, namely the conquest of Makale, a task which Signor Mussolini had entrusted to de Bono, has now been accomplished, does not appear convincing because hitherto there had been no mention that de Bono's mission had been in any way limited. Moreover, hitherto the position of the Italian army in Abyssinia had been considered satisfactory, even Mussolini's telegram to de Bono referring to his recall emphasises that the General had carried out the mission under exceptionally difficult circumstances that entitled him to the nation's gratitude.

The press here state, however, that a favourable opinion is formed about the situation of the Italian armies in Abyssinia, which is largely based on reports in the foreign press. The "Gazzetta del Popolo," in an article evidently inspired by a high quarter in Rome, publishes a striking and much discussed article warning the public against foreign reports from Abyssinia, and emphasising that the public must not be too credulous because a relapse—in the event of such reports proving to be untrue—might be serious and easily result in despondency. Then the "Gazzetta del Popolo" significantly draws attention to some obvious but fundamental important features of the situation.

ETHIOPIAN INTENTIONS

For instance, the Maravigna column is still 100 miles from Gondar, the country between being mountainous without a trace of road or track of any kind. General Graziani, Commander-in-Chief of Somalia, is still 75 miles from Jijiga and 200 miles from Harar.

The question now is what does the enemy intend to do? The only possible answer is "Ture the Italians far into the country where, by evading a decisive battle, they would bring the Italian army into difficulties on the long drawn out military roads where it is most vulnerable."

This plan, continues "Gazzetta del Popolo," was undoubtedly suggested to Negus by his foreign advisers. Moreover, reports like those of the defection of the Sultan of Aussa spread by an English news agency are utterly incredible. At all events, as other leading press organs declare, it has been found advisable to put the supreme command of the war in the personality of the army, whereas hitherto under de Bono it was at least symbolically and largely under the political influence of the exponents of Fascism and the campaign itself was largely entrusted to the Black-shirt divisions. Another significant fact, as emphasised by the press, is that neither Badoglio who has just returned from an exhaustive trip of the inspection of Eritrea, nor General Graziani who has seen much of the campaigning in Africa, have ever harboured illusions about the real nature, extent and duration of colonial warfare in Abyssinia.—Transocean Kuo Min

ADVANCE IN NORTH
AT STANDSTILL

Invaders Harassed By Guerrilla Tactics

Addis Ababa, November 16.

Abyssinian reports from the North front state that the Italian advance in the territory between Makale and Takkaze River has come to a standstill. The Abyssinian divisions in the north of Makale were displaying great skill in guerrilla attacks at the back of the Italian lines of communication, thus not only proving a great distraction to the Italians but causing serious losses and preventing any systematic advance.

In addition to these tactics the Abyssinians make night attacks on Italian munitions and provisioning transports. The Abyssinian reports continue that the Italians so far have not crossed the Takkaze River anywhere. The Italian aerodrome at Atalagura had completed reconnoitring and mines are being laid there.

On the Somaliland front the Italians are advancing on both sides of the Fafan River. The Italian advance is conducted in small troops, the columns proving very costly in men and material and the advance being preceded by bombing squadrons. Over sixty bombs were dropped on Friday over Salsabaneh alone.

ROME BULLETIN

Rome, Nov. 16.

The 47th Italian war bulletin reports that the Danakil column and divisions of the first army corps are continuing action to clear up the territory around Azbi and Desale. The native army corps are clearing up the Geralt mountain spur. The second army has completed the occupation of the Tzembela territory whose leaders and other prominent officers submitted to the Italian military authorities.

Reports from Asmara state that after fighting around Dazbi Colonel Mariotti wireless to headquarters for surgical supplies and food for the wounded. As the Senate pass is on the verge of a rift plateau it is difficult to gain access and provisioning has to be undertaken by airplanes.—Transocean Kuo Min

OGADEN FRONT

Asmara, Nov. 16.

The optimism aroused earlier in the week by the successful Italian drive on the Ogaden front was tempered by later reports which revealed that General Graziani's front line, so far as it is definitely consolidated, remains only at Goralhal.

Fighting between Italian Askaris and Ethiopians has recently taken place at Grabehor, 30 miles south of Salsabaneh, which city, together with Daggahur, the Abyssinians abandoned after being heavily bombed.—Reuter.

SUPPLY DIFFICULTIES

Rome, Nov. 17.

With Marshal Badoglio taking command of the north army, the pause in advance is expected to last at least three weeks during which time the Italians hope to complete the roads to enable stores and tanks to come from the rear. At present the troops have been outstripped in wheeled traffic, necessitating some troops to be supplied by air.

An official decree has been issued recalling to the colours the non-commissioned Carabiniers of the 1907-10 and 1912 classes, also a number of artillery and other specialists.—Reuter.

Born in 1860, the son of a French diplomat, M. Cazenave was a playmate of the Prince Imperial, and was well acquainted with pre-war Paris. After retiring from active work in Peking, M. POLICE TEAM SUFFER FIRST DEFEAT

Week-End Football Full Of Surprises

The outstanding feature of the week-end's soccer was the defeat of the Police, Senior eleven for the first time this season. The South China "B" team are to be congratulated for it was they who lowered the colours of the Police.

The Fusiliers surprised the Lincolns when they held them to a draw of 3 all. At King's park the Club de Recreio were surprised by the Club "w" defeated them by 3 goals to 2.

Yesterday's encounter between England and Portugal proved to be a very exciting game. Portugal fielded a strong eleven and had little difficulty in defeating England by 4 goals to 1.

S. C. "A" TROUNCE KOWLOON

A large crowd turned out at Caroline Hill on Saturday to witness the encounter between South China "A" and the Kowloon Seniors, when the Champions walked away with 2 easy points after a very uninteresting game in which they collected 5 goals without reply.

The Chinese fielded a stronger side, particularly in the attack line by the inclusion of Tam Kong-pak. According to the run of the play, they could have easily doubled their scores.

Lee Wai-tong secured another "hat-trick" thus adding another three goals to his already huge aggregate. After 7 minutes play Lee received a pass from Tam and went through to beat Boys for the first time.

G. White nearly equalised when he broke away, but his final effort went wide.

Soon afterwards Lee increased the lead by snapping up a ball in front of the Kowloon goal and banging in a hot shot, and a minute later the Chinese went still further ahead when Tam converted from a corner.

Tam and Lee were combining splendidly and a quick move by the two gave Lee the opportunity to add his third goal, with a nice shot.

After the interval the Chinese added another goal. Kowloon pressed very hard, but they found the defence of the Chinese too good for them and the final whistle came with the score standing at 5-0.

ATHLETICS DEFEAT R.A.

The Chinese Athletic proved too good for R.A. Stoneworters when they met in a First Division encounter on Saturday and ran out victorious by 4 clear goals.

The game was not interesting and did not produce any good soccer. Both sides throwing away chances by very poor finishing.

The Chinese did some very nice movements early in the first half but as the game progressed, they slackened their pace, and allowed their opponents to open up.

The Gunners however could not get going, although trying very hard they could not register a single point.

SAINTS OUTPLAYED

After being 2 goals down in the first half, the Navy went on to win a very strenuous game when they met the Saints in a First Division encounter on Saturday and ran out winners by 7 goals to 2.

Rose, the Navy in-side right played a very good game and netted 4 of the Navy goals.

Within 10 minutes of play Leonard netted for the Saints, and a little later Omar increased their lead from short range. The first half ended with the Saints leading by two clear goals, but on the resumption, the Navy got going and netted 7 times.

The Navy's defence got into their stride and the Saints, forwards never looked like getting anywhere near their opponents' area at all.

SOLDIERS IN DRAWN MATCH

A very exciting encounter was seen at Chatham Road on Saturday when the Lincolns and the Fusiliers shared the points, in their Senior Division encounter, by scoring 3 goals each.

CLUB DEFEAT RECS.

After a somewhat tame opening, the match between the Club and the ReCs, turned out to be a very exciting encounter. The ReCs team suffered a reverse after the good form they showed last week and were defeated by 3 goals to 2.

After 20 minutes play, the Portuguese took the lead through Delgado who received a pass from Gosano.

On the resumption, the Club drew level when E. Strange beat Fernandes with a hard rising shot. After this goal, the game began to get exciting and exchanges were more brisk.

Elliot, however put the Club ahead by netting a good goal from a pass by Fowler.

The Club were now exerting considerable pressure on the ReCs goal, and they would have had it but for grand defensive work by Fernandes, Gosano and Bowen.

The ReCs then resorted to long kicking and, from a pass from mid-field, Delgado ran in to beat ReCs. Immediately from the kick off, however, the Club again secured the lead when Elliot scored a good goal after Fernandes had made a brilliant save from E. Strange.

The South China "B" scored a well merited win on Saturday when they registered the first defeat of the Police Senior team by beating them by 2 goals to 1 after a very exciting game.

The Chinese well deserved their win, the Police being extremely lucky to score at all, the goal they secured being the result of a very doubtful penalty.

The Chinese had most of the play during the first half, and Cheuk Shek-kam scored his team's first goal of the season after 15 minutes.

POLICE BEATEN

The Police were unable to equalise until five minutes from the end of the game, and they did so in a very unsatisfactory manner. Stephens handled the ball in the Chinese area, and, after consultation with the linesman, who was waving his flag, the referee awarded a penalty against the Chinese.

Three minutes later, however, Cheuk Shek-kam centred across the goal, Chris Fife missed the ball and Lee Shek-yau scored the winning goal from a yard out.

SHAI TENNIS PLAYERS

Delight Locals Fans In Exhibition Matches

Spectacular tennis was provided by Khoo Hoo Hye, V. T. Wang and Chin Iu Pan of Shanghai when in exhibition matches against local exponents they delighted a fair sized crowd during the week-end at the C.R.C. Ground.

Yesterday in the first match Chin Iu Pan was opposed to Tsui Wai Pui and lost by 6-4, 8-6. The game was devoid of interest due to the mediocre standard displayed. Tsui was the better of the two, revealing many of his old time strokes and with his chop spin he won most of his points. Chin Iu Pan did not impress as being of the potential type. He was weak in his service and back hand and his one asset was the ability to make use of his forehand drive which he did to good advantage.

He lost to Tsui by 6-4 after leading 2-0. In the second set however Tsui relaxed somewhat and Chin taking advantage of this pressed home his advantage and led Tsui 5-2. Hereafter the local boy improved greatly and after all was called won the next two games and set.

THE DOUBLES Exhibition tennis was then served by Khoo Hoo Hye partnered by V. T. Wang in the doubles match against the Rumjahn cousins. All four players were in good form and the consistency of the Shanghai pair won the day but not before they were given a gruelling fight by the Rumjahn cousins who eventually had to succumb to superior tactics and lost by 10-8, 6-2, 7-5.

Khoo revealed that he still possessed his old form and backed up admirably by Wang allowed the Rumjahns very little scope. Wang in particular put in an excellent day's work when he outdrove and outmanoeuvred the Rumjahns time and again and in many of the duels which he carried out single-handedly against the Rumjahns, he invariably came off best. He had a good eye for placings and his drives along the side lines left their opponents straining.

18 GAMES IN FIRST SET S. A. Rumjahn was the better of the two cousins. He played up well but received poor support from "E.D." who with his weak returns and timid tactics spoilt many an opportune chance to turn the tables on the Shanghai pair. Very often with a point to clinch the ball in the net or otherwise sent it out of the court.

The first set went to 18 games before the Shanghai pair annexed it.

Each pair won their aces alternately and after the Rumjahns had led for four times in each instance through poor team work the Shanghai pair levelled up and took the last two games and set.

The second set went to the Shanghai pair again who lost but two games. In the final set the game was more evenly contested but once again poor and weak returns spelt the downfall of the Rumjahns. This set went to 12 games.

The scores were:— Tsui Wai Pui beat Chin Iu Pan 6-4, 8-6.

Khoo Hoo Hye and V. T. Wang beat S. A. and H. D. Rumjahn 10-8, 6-2, 7-5.

SATURDAY'S GAMES

On Saturday V. T. Wang beat S. A. Rumjahn in two straight sets. Both players were at their best but Rumjahn's poor baseline duels lost him many a point. Rumjahn was playing as well as ever but the strategy of Wang was too good for him.

In the other singles match Chin Iu Pan had no difficulty in beating Tsui Wai Pui.

Mrs. Dimitrijevic one time former holder of the United States Junior Championship, and now Shanghai Ladies tennis Champion was in another exhibition when in partnership with Ho Ka-Lau they played two sets against Chin Iu Pan and Tsui Wai Pui which ended in a draw. Mrs. Dimitrijevic impressed very strongly with her display and her all round courtcraft was wonderful to behold.

The scores were:— V. T. Wang (Shanghai) beat S. A. Rumjahn 7-5, 6-4.

Chin Iu Pan (Shanghai) beat Tsui Wai Pui 8-4.

Ho Ka-Lau and Mrs. Dimitrijevic drew with Chin Iu Pan and Tsui Wai Pui 7-5, 4-6.

HONG KONG RIFLE ASSOCIATION

Target Accommodation Congested

The naval range at Stonecutter's was working to practically full capacity on Saturday afternoon, when the local Rifle Association held its usual week-end spoon and Practice Shoot, while on adjoining targets a friendly match took place between a naval team selected by Lieut. (E) Berlyn, R.S., and a team representing the Dockyard Rifle Club. In this event, the Rifle Club was allowed to shoot with two extra members, with the added advantage that the two lowest scores, at each distance, were to be counted out. In spite of this, the result was a decisive victory for the naval PSYCHOLOGICAL BLUNDER.

Ministers again speak of the righteousness of their motives. Is there not a real danger that the lady may protest too much? In the eyes of other countries, even the most friendly, do we not seem to arrogate to ourselves, with the old failing, a peculiar and exclusive virtue? We are subject throughout the world to the ordinary realism of human judgment, and though on the whole it is entirely just to so much that is genuine in the idealism of our sanctimonious crusade, it recognises the legitimate admixture.

It is not, and it cannot be, true that British statesmen are or should be indifferent to the vital British interests, so nearly touched in this matter, for which they are the trustees. Repeated protestation to the contrary only does us harm. It is the world's belief, even where opinion is most favourable to us, that if Manchuria had bordered on the Red Sea our action would have been different then, and that if Abyssinia had been a thousand miles from Egypt our action would have been different now.

In the same way a false and jarring note is struck when Ministers protest that they chasten Italy because they love her—so far as they can allow themselves to have any ordinary British feelings in the case. They say in effect that they cannot allow themselves to be influenced by anything but those mathematical emotions called League feelings. Guided by these astral or spectral attributes, they are regrettably but unavoidably compelled to organise the most ingenious and persistent hostilities short of war that have ever been directed against a Great Power. This policy, if successful, would overthrow Signor Mussolini and the Fascist regime; create Communism or chaos instead; prostrate the pride and hope of a great European people; and bring about, in Africa the triumph of dark races over a white.

When these purposes are pursued in effect by British Ministers who at the same time proclaim that they harbour in their hearts nothing but personal animosity and charity towards Italy and are only acting officially as the severe but blameless slaves of duty, how can we wonder that the impression they create abroad is less edifying than they hoped? They show themselves more insularly obtuse than towards the Latin temperament than any other Government in living remembrance. They embitter Italian feeling to the core and charge it with derision. Their reiterations of goodwill simultaneously with their unprecedented course of injury convince an entire people from the Alps to Etna that the British Government in its own self-interest is stabbing Italy in the back with the classical knife wreathed in flowers.

BEGINS TO SLIDE

The House of Commons will be further told, just as the country has been fervently assured, that the policy of pressure is intended to vindicate "collective security," to strengthen the League, and to fortify peace. What more flimsy tissue of phrases could be contrived?

Again, there is no doubt about the virtue of the intentions, and again no doubt about the contradiction of the means. How can you speak of reinforcing "collective security" when you are at the time disrupting the Swiss front, which was the only effective guarantee of European equanimity? Already the disturbances in Austria show how Europe is beginning to slide. In every single part of it there is a visible loosening and weakening of the sense of provincial security, such as it was, which existed even four months ago. How can you speak of strengthening the League by methods which can only end in driving yet another Great Power out of it, and leaving in it only three Great Powers out of seven, while those three would be in discordant and dubious association? And this, with the further sure consequence of creating a formidable group of non-members which would soon become predominant? How can you speak of fortifying peace by methods which so plainly tend to jeopardise every one of its present precarious safeguards and to accelerate its destruction?

THE WAR-MONGERS.

So much for the foundations of a policy in which every element has been as rashly miscalculated as the original prediction that the threat of sanctions would prevent an Abyssinian war. What the deep instinct of the majority of the country dreads and abhors is the risk that the same temper of self-deceived confidence may lead to the disaster of a wider war. The sober bulk of the nation wants to know once for all whether it is being led. Are we to be led from now forward towards the sure purposes of European peace and our own; or towards the early possibility of wider war in a situation so tense and straitened that peace will lie at the mercy of accident?

Even the economic sanctions already undertaken or impending will result in more permanent and irreparable injury to our own trade and commerce—especially to our coal and shipping—than to those of any other nation. Italy will find other sources of supply in this conflict and still more afterwards. It is already certain that our own lasting loss will be Germany's gain; and that the repercussions to our prejudice will be felt in the end throughout an extending area of Europe. We may put a ban on Italian exports to Britain. The lesson will not be forgotten. The development of economic nationalism as a political safeguard will be intensified far and wide in the very manner deplored by all our sanctionists of the Left.

But the zealots are not content. They predict the slowness and failure of the sanctions genuinely compatible with peace—with peace of a kind, however uneasy and disturbing in itself and however fertile in breeding mischief for the future. The rabid lungoes for the League already clamour for the economic stifling of the Italian people; for a total interruption of the communications between that people and its armistice in East Africa; for the closing of the Suez Canal; for a naval blockade in the Mediterranean and the Adriatic.

It is a course that would lead not only to desperate war between Britain and Italy, but to long convulsions in Europe and the world such as would assuredly bring the British Empire to its doom, whatever happened to others. Better to have reconstructed our defences and armaments if we mean to undertake any policy whatever of challenge and peril. These war-mongering measures in the name of effective sanctions may be the criminal insanity of politics, but the very fanatics who advocate them have hitherto led the dance which Ministers have followed. That it shall not become the dance of death is the definite reassurance that the House of Commons this week ought to receive from the Government, and that otherwise the vast majority of its supporters will demand between now and the polls.

RUGBY

Navy Team Suffer Another Defeat.

The Navy Rugby XV suffered their second defeat at the hands of the Hong Kong Football Club when on Saturday they lost once again by 10 points to 6. The game was however featured by the brilliant play of Butcher and Fielden for the Club and Benson and Felcey for the Navy.

The Club opened the scoring through Powell, Robertson converting, but not long after St. Clair Ford broke through to score wide, Benson failing with the kick. Midway through this half a fine movement among the backs saw Fielden break away to ground beneath the posts after an excellent run, Robertson again adding the points.

In the second half a breakaway by Butcher saw the latter send Fielden over for the latter's second try, Robertson failing with the kick. After a long period of mid-field play Felcey broke through on the left touchline to send Benson away, the latter transferring to St. Clair Ford, who scored in the corner. Warren failed to convert.

Just before the end Wilson snatched up the ball in the loose and went over. Robertson, however, failing to add the points.

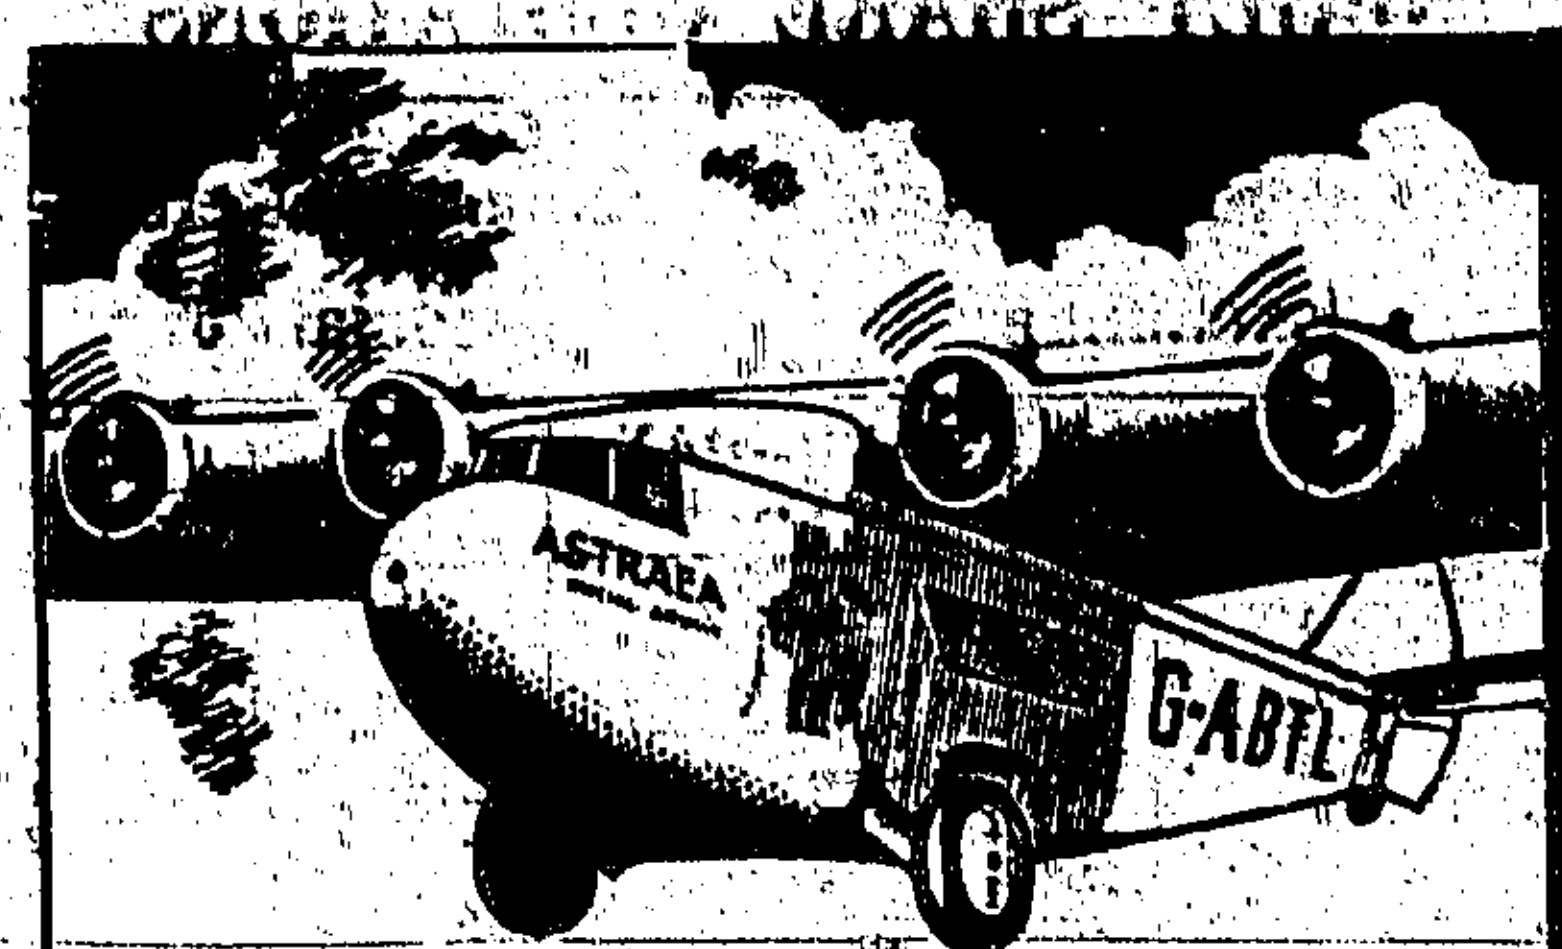

ARMY v CLUB "A"

The Army's superiority at rugby over the Club "A" XV was amply demonstrated on Saturday when the latter won by 23 points to 3. The Army was on top during the greater part of the game and had no difficulty in beating the weak Club XV.

The Army was well served by Lt. Metcalf and Lt. Rice-Evans at back while Capt. Ap-Rhys-Pryce and Bmdr. Hall were seen to good advantage in the forward line.

For the Club, Hynes and Loxham were the pick of the Club backs, but both were injured and left the field in the second-half, when the Army took command of the game. Aiers was good at back, while North-Lewis shone at scrum-half.

Metcalf (two goals and a try), Evans (two tries and a dropped-goal) scored for the Army, while Hynes scored the only try for the Club.

English Doctor
writes:—

"I find that 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after most of my meals is the only thing that keeps me free from pain and discomfort, and I take it regularly. I often prescribe it for my patients, and have had very good results."

(Signed) Dr. H. G. M.A., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.

THE English doctor is the most conservative medical man in the world, and when he not only recommends but personally uses a remedy there can be no more convincing proof of its efficacy. This doctor is but one of many who constantly advise the use of "Bisurated" Magnesia in all cases of indigestion. Most stomach trouble is caused by acidity, and the reason why "Bisurated" Magnesia gives quick relief is that it instantly neutralises excess acid and soothes, heals and strengthens the inflamed stomach lining. Nothing could be simpler, safer or surer. If you suffer with indigestion or stomach disorder of any kind put your faith in European science and make an end of your troubles by taking "Bisurated" Magnesia after eating or whenever pain is felt.

THE SHARE MARKET

Harriman's Weekly
Review

Messrs. G. A. Harriman & Co. weekly share report and market review issued at noon to-day.

The market continued its activity during the week under review and a large volume of business was again put through. After the very heavy buyers of the previous week and the substantial rise which followed it was only natural that the market would be tempted and a fair amount of liquidation had to be taken care of. This in itself reflects and extremely healthy position and the market is consequently not overloaded and is ready at any time for a new drive to higher levels. Investment issues again attracted a fair amount of attention. Hongkong Lands were done at the improved rate of $35/38. Wharves were better with business done at $84/91. Star Ferries changed hands at the enhanced rate of $90. Hongkong Electric, after having been transacted at $70, receded to a selling rate of $67 1/2. Telephones (old) opened with buyers at $24 1/2, but closed easier with shares obtainable at $24. Hongkong Trams firmed up to $15.35 in the middle of the week but receded to $14.20 at the close. Dairy Farms had a smart rise to $18.90 closing with sellers at this rate.

Minor issues were also active. Hotels improved to $5.60 closing much easier. China Lights after changing hands at $11 1/2 at the opening, declined to a very steady buying rate of $11.10. Cements at one time rose to buyers at $7 1/2, but closed easier with shares offering at $6 1/2. Ropes eased off to $4.20 after business at $4 1/4. Sterling stocks were a shade better. Hongkong Banks having been transacted at $1500 and Unions at $575. The tone of the market at the close is very steady and a very healthy under tone predominates in all sections. The bulk of profit-taking has been liquidated and renewed activity is looked forward to in the near future.

Business during the week has been done at the following prices:—
H. K. Banks $1500.
Union Insurance, $570/575.
Antamols, $0.95/1.
Ewo Cottons, $h. $2 1/2.
H. K. Lands $35-38.
H. K. Trams $14.10/15.35.
Star Ferries, $88/90.
China Lights, $11-11 1/2.
Dairy Farms, $18.40/18.90.
H. K. Hotels, $5.40/5.60.
Humphreys, $10 1/4/10.55.
Realtys, $6-6 1/2.
H. K. Electric, $67 1/2/70.
Cements, $7-7 1/2.
Canton Insurance, $255/260.
H. K. Fires, $255.
Raubs, $9-10.

BERLIN SHARE MARKET

Capital Held Back
By Investors

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, Nov. 16.
Profit-taking by operators to reap the advantage of the rise in the last few days combined with the customary week-end tendency to slackness resulted in the shrinkage of the amount of business done to less than on Friday while many shares also declined. In prices, Fixed interest securities were dull, especially Gold Mortgage bonds and communal bonds. Call Money stood at 3, Young Loan went 1 firmer to 102 1/2, Reichsbanks improved 1 1/8 to 182 1/2, Deutscher Reichsbank stood unchanged at 77 1/2, German Mineral Oils rose 1/2 to 102 1/2, Siemenshalke was unchanged at 164, Bernberg Rayon jumped 2 1/2 to 103 1/2.

Closing prices during the week end in the sharemarket were in most cases appreciably higher than at the beginning of the week despite the fact that in general the amount of business done was small, investors showing as before disinclination to part with capital while the world outlook is so uncertain.

Metallurgicals suffered most from the tendency to neglect largely because various prominent people stated publicly that the industry must rely more on its own enterprise to find orders as they would expect fewer contracts from the State. This indicates clearly that greater efforts must be made to obtain export orders. Hence the news that the Deutschewert secured important foreign contracts and the publication of foreign trade figures for October showing the maintenance of good export surplus helped to restore confidence.

The weekly report of the German Institute for business research setting forth the exact financial position of the Reich, thus answering the foreign critics, also affected the market most favourably. Thus the week-end closed at the best. Fixed interest securities were quiet throughout the week, price changes being very small. Reichsbanks were noticeably stronger and advanced 1 1/2 during the week.
